Zig Zag provides a place of healing, support and social action for young women

As a feminist service, we are committed to working alongside young women and acknowledging their expertise in their own lives. We acknowledge that social, political, cultural and economic contexts limits young women's power, creating vulnerability and disadvantage.

Zig Zag recognises the diversity amongst young women and we work in a way that promotes safety, and is collaborative, inclusive, supportive and respectful.

Zig Zag is committed to ethical practice and a process of continuous reflection and development that is informed by young women, practice wisdom and shared knowledge.

Services for young women in the wider Brisbane region

- Sexual Assault Support Services

Young women aged 12 to 25 can access short, medium or long term counselling depending on their needs and will be offered regular opportunities to review the counselling process to ensure that it is meeting their needs. We offer counselling and group work services in Camp Hill, Zillmere and Inala.

- Housing Support Program

We provide medium term supported accommodation (approx. 6 months) to young women aged 16 to 25 years and accompanying children, who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. We also offer support, advocacy, information and referral on housing issues and other issues related to housing and homelessness for young women.

- Community Education

Zig Zag can also come out to schools, services, community groups, and attend community events to provide education about the nature and incidence of sexual assault and its impacts on young women. With this, we aim to increase community awareness, and develop community responses for the prevention of sexual violence.
